This is one of the best farms in the county and its location, in the shadow of O'Neill's splendid schools, makes it one of the most desirable places in the county. Al Wadley of Kankakee, Ill., was in the city last week visiting old time friends, leaving for his home Wednesday morning. Mr. Wadley was a resident of this county years ago but left here and went back "east" something like twenty years ago. He believes that O'Neill is a garden spot now compared to what it was when he left here. He had a pleasant time visiting old-time friends and will receive The Frontier hereafter to keep posted upon affairs in this section.

B. A. Powell, one of the pioneer settlers of the Mineola country and an old time Frontier reader, was a caller at these headquarters last Monday and left the necessary coin to extend his subscription another year. Mr. Powell says they have the best corn crop in his section this year that they have ever had.

The L. L. Mandeville sale yesterday afternoon was largely attended and everything brought good prices. Col. James Moore was the auctioneer in charge and the able manner in which he conducted the sale brought him new laurels and added to his reputation as one of the most successful auctioneers in the county.

Engineer Bruce of Omaha, who had charge of the sewer construction, was in the city last Wednesday examining the work. The system was to the satisfaction of the engineer and the contractors have been paid the contract price less five per cent which will be retained for three months by the city, pending its final acceptance.

Wednesday evening a few invited friends assembled at the residence of Grandma Harrington on West Everett street to partake of a sumptuous six o'clock dinner, served under the direction of Mrs. Harrington, who, despite her age, is well hale and hearty. The guests present report having spent a very enjoyable evening.

Last Monday was a very busy day for his honor, Judge Malone. On that day he granted three marriage licenses to young people from our neighboring city of Atkinson. The couples receiving licenses were: Milo H. Beebe and Miss Lucy Irene Bitney; Perry Fleming and Myrtle VanEmon, and John Arnett and Miss Ethel L. Fleming.

For particulars and literature, write Crew & Phair, General Agents, St. Paul, Nebraska. 18-2

H. W. Flaherty of Omaha spoke in the interests of the democratic ticket at the court house last Monday evening to a small sized audience. Mr. Flaherty is a fluent and pleasing speaker but the most of his address seemed to be an apology for the head of the democratic ticket. J. D. Lee, candidate for senator, and T. V. Golden candidate for representative, also delivered short addresses.

John McCaffrey, who has been visiting relatives and friends in this city the past three weeks, left for his home at Pittsburg, Pa. last Tuesday morning. Mr. McCaffrey was a resident of this county many years ago and still owns the homestead upon which he made final proof, which is located northwest of this city. He says old Holt looks better today than ever and he believes that the days of hardships for the people of this county are past and his only regret is that he does not own more of its fertile land.

R. H. Murray was up from Page Monday. This season has not been a very good one for the potato crop but Mr. Murray says that he raised 550 bushels off from three acres and that they were number one quality. The land that the potatoes were raised on was considered worthless a couple of years ago, being very sandy, but was made highly productive by fertilizing. Aspotatoes are worth 75 cents a bushel the crop raised upon these three acres is worth $412.50, more than the quarter section would have sold for some ten years ago.

J. S. Walker, for many years a resident of Page but now living in Sioux City, was a pleasant caller at these headquarters last Monday. Mr. Walker still owns his real estate in this county and today his faith in the future greatness of old Holt is stronger than it ever has been. Although resident of another state his interests are here and he is more interested in Nebraska than Iowa, and although a democrat believes that the election of Aldrich as governor would be better for the state than the election of the Omaha mayor to that position.

Lynch Journal: The Townsend Bridge Company crew finished the work on the Redbird bridge Monday and came into town. Just as soon as the approaches to the same are complete it will be the best bridge on the river. The bridge is 334 feet long and all steel and cement except the floor and the pilings in the center of the steel piers. The Townsend Company have had a great deal of extra work and trouble on this bridge but they have done a fine job of work. The cost is about $15,000 and there is every reason to believe that it will last longer than three or four common wood bridges.

SULLIVAN CLEANS WEST.

Puts Him to Sleep in Fifth Round of the "Scrap."

At Norfolk last Thursday night Jack Sullivan of this city put Kid West of South Dakota down and out in the fifth round of a scheduled twenty round bout. A large crowd was present at the ringside, including about 100 from this city. The following account of the fight is taken from the Norfolk Daily News:

ROUND ONE.

The men were up with the bell and fell into a clinch. West looked very short for the O'Neill fighter when, after they broke the sparring came. In a rush they wrestled and both tapped each other under the guards. They clinched and in the break Sullivan put his right hand over the kid's head. The kid ducked a left to the jaw and missed a hard right swing to the face. They rushed to a clinch; Sullivan put both right and left on the chin and the kid, who was fighting very low, missed another right to the jaw, with Sullivan missing to the head. Sullivan missed another of the same kind and the kid's uppercut found no mark. They clinched again and as the bell rang they rushed into another clinch. It was an even round and the crowd was yelling "quit wrestling and fight." Sullivan seemed to take it easy and the kid looked gritty.

ROUND TWO.

They rushed to a clinch again as the bell rang, and, finding opening under the guards they were tapping each other lightly at every available spot from the short ribs to the head. Sullivan missed a hard right to the face and they clinched again. In the break Sullivan put in a stiff uppercut to the chin and a right to the head. West missed a swing to the head, Sullivan doing the same thing a second later. They clinch again both missing rights and lefts to the face. Sullivan missed another hard one to the mouth and West punched him hard against the ropes near his own corner, where Sullivan planted a light one on the face. West missed an uppercut to the jaw and so neatly ducked a vicious swing to the head that the crowd yelled to the tune of the gong ending what Referee Magner declared an even round. Sullivan did not seem out of sorts, and looked perfectly cool. West, on the other hand, was flushed, and although he did not show signs of weakness, seemed not pleased with himself.

NEARLY OUT IN ROUND THREE.

There was a hum of conversation and the betting from the O'Neill side was not heard from as the bell brought the principals to a clinch. Both land light ones. Sullivan put his left on the face and missed the same kind to the head. He came back with a hard right, pushing the kid's chin in the air. In the clinch both landed some clever blows. They mixed it a second later and Sullivan put his right over the head and chin, his mark seeming to be the injured lip, which some time ago was cut open by Young Denney. He did not, however, succeed in opening it, but drew blood from the other side, where the kid's teeth cut flesh. They kept up the mix around the ring and Sullivan soon had West in his corner, where he rained a torrent of right and left jabs and uppercuts to the face. West in the mix got in a few light ones, but he looked weakened and a red color spread over his body as he took his seat at the end of the round, which was decidedly Sullivan's.

ROUND FOUR.

The minute rest did not seem to refresh the kid who was up with the bell, however, and showed retaliation. They sparred in a clinch at arms' length which showed his superior reach. Sullivan pummelled the kid's head. They spar and Sullivan landed both right and left to the face. They clinched and in the break Sullivan ducked a terrific swing which the kid seemed to have had in reserve. He was back in a jiffy, however, landing right and left jabs to the face. The kid landed a short one on the short ribs in the mix but Sullivan kept pounding away with first a right and then a left swing to the head. He did not seem to hit the kid in the body, the low fighting of the Omaha fighter seeming to prevent this. Sullivan missed another left to the face but connected with a hard right to the face which the kid took decently and landed the right on the champion's head. Sullivan landed a right to the jaw and the bell found them sparring. It was a strenuous round for the kid, full of fast in-fighting. He seemed to bring the clinch on himself and although it handicapped Sullivan it gradually wore the little man down. It was all Sullivan's round.

ROUND FIVE, WEST TAKES COUNT.

West looked weary as he got up from his corner and Sullivan looked very cool. They immediately came to a clinch and in the break West missed a good heavy right to the face. They spar and when Sullivan missed a heavy left to the jaw they again fell into each others arms. They broke again in which proceedings Sullivan landed a hard right to the head and they clinched again, broke and clinched. Sullivan then put his left to the face and West succeeded in putting his right over the stomach. In the close fighting Sullivan put both his right and left to the kid's face and raised that member high up with a stiff uppercut. They broke loose and a glancing right around the kid's neck which, probably meant for a knockout, threw him on his back to the floor near his own corner. Referee Magner counted six but the kid slowly dragged himself up and they were at it again with the kid all but gone. They sparred and in Sullivan's corner the champion commenced his heavy right to working. He put it over the kid's face and finally connected it with the rear of West's left ear sending him to the floor. He was counted out by the referee but struggled hard to get up to resume the fight. This ended the round and fight in which West was outclassed in science and physical ability and the crowd cheered for both men.

DEATH OF "BUCK" O'NEILL.

Former Deputy Sheriff and Old-Time Resident Dies at Columbus.

The many Holt county friends of Charles, better known as "Buck" O'Neill, will regret to learn of his death which occurred at Columbus, Nebraska last week. Charley was a resident of this city for many years and no man had more friends in Holt county than he had. The following account of his death is taken from the Columbus Telegram:

"Chas. O'Neill, a brother of Mrs. S. J. Ryan and Michael O'Neill, of this city, died at St. Mary's hospital last Monday night. Mr. O'Neill was a miner in Colorado, and came to this city in September suffering from a pulmonary trouble known to some people as "mountain fever." He was accompanied to the city by Thomas Kerens, owner of the now famous "Silver King" mine in Colorado, and rated as one of the millionaire miners of that state. For the past ten years the two had been close companions in their prospecting, and the friendship of the old days remained steadfast in the days of affluence for the one, and comparative poverty for the other. Mr. O'Neill was better known in northern Nebraska than in this city. He was deputy sheriff of Holt county at the time Barrett Scott, a defaulting treasurer was lynched by a mob of infuriated citizens. In that office he figured quite prominently in the effort to determine members of the mob. He was never married. His surviving relatives are four sisters and one brother. They are Mrs. J. J. Brady, of Oklahoma City; Mrs. Thos. Durkin, of Arizona; Mrs. M. Conley, Mrs. Ryan and Mr. O'Neill, of this city. The sisters residing at a distance were present at the funeral, which was held at St. Bonaventura church Wednesday forenoon."
